

Anand David Embry has a B. of Music in flute and is a Certified Clinical Musician. For over 30 years he's investigated our relationship with sound, listening and music. With humour, devotion and sincerity embedded in his playing, he facilitates a deep sense of peace and stillness enveloping the listener in a nurturing environment. Classes, performances and workshops take a person into deep listening providing psychoacoustic and spiritual development through sacred chant. He joyfully works in conscious cooperation with the evolutionary processes of human growth and healing.
